TO PRESENT EVERYONE MATURE IN CHRIST

Him we proclaim, warning everyone and teaching everyone with all wisdom, that we may present everyone mature in Christ.

Colossians 1:28

REVERENT RAMBLINGS

There is an English saying: What goes up must come down. There are usually two meanings attached to this phrase. The first is the literal meaning, which would be referring to gravity, where anything that's thrown up would eventually fall back down. The commonly understood meaning would be, all good things will come to an end one day, or anything good would also come with its bad sides.

For example, you've just received a piece of good news. You're about to be promoted at your job! You would initially think, that's great, I'm being recognised for the hard work I've put in thus far, and I could use the pay raise. However, a promotion is usually accompanied by increased responsibilities, higher stress levels, and perhaps, less time at home.

If I may attempt to be funny, as fitting as it may be since it's Resurrection Sunday, for Christians, what goes up must come down too. We know that as surely as Jesus did ascend to heaven after His resurrection, He will come back again to judge the living and the dead. However, in this context, it's not that the good will come to an end one day. In fact, it's only going to get better! That is why we look forward to the second coming of Jesus.

Acts 1:10–11

[10] And while they were gazing into heaven as he went, behold, two men stood by them in white robes, [11] and said, "Men of Galilee, why do you stand looking into heaven? This Jesus, who was taken up from you into heaven, will come in the same way as you saw him go into heaven."

We usually remember Jesus' death and resurrection, but how often do we remember that Jesus will come back again? Even the disciples had to be reminded by the two angels that appeared beside them that Jesus would come back again, despite knowing the prophecies. It's good that we are, from time to time, reminded that Jesus will come back for us.

What we do in this life affects our life in eternity. It's very tempting to chase after the things of this world because they give instant gratification. I always acknowledge and admire the sacrifices that the youths from Destiny Impact make weekly. Saturday afternoon is the best time for youths to hang out with their friends, as they would have been busy with school during weekdays. I'm sure many of the youths have had to decline invitations from friends to hang out on Saturdays just so they could spend time with God in church.

To me, this is what having eternity in mind looks like. This is what priorities look like. I'd like to think that the youths from Destiny Impact don't live with only this life in mind, but they live knowing that Jesus will come back one day, and they will be judged for their actions on earth.

Do we have our priorities right? If we call ourselves Christians, then we need to live for Jesus, not for anything else. We can't have the best of both worlds (this life and the life we have in eternity). After all, this life that we have is not ours, and we owe our lives to Jesus because of what He has done on the cross.

This Resurrection Sunday, on top of remembering that Christ is risen, let us also remember that Christ has ascended, and he will come back again one day. In the meantime, may we be encouraged to wait with eager hearts for him, and let our lives and actions be pleasing in His sight!

PRAYER HIGHLIGHTS

WORLD

Covid-19

The United States and countries in Europe such as Germany, Italy and France, as well as Queensland, Australia have experienced a recent spike in COVID-19 cases. Pray that the general public will remain vigilant in observing all necessary precautions and that “pandemic fatigue” will not cause people to throw off all restraint, thereby exposing others especially the vulnerable to the risk of infection. Pray also for God’s merciful intervention to stop the increasing violence and killing of innocent civilians especially young children, and for peace and order to be restored in Myanmar.

SINGAPORE

Travel Bubbles

Pray for wisdom and divine guidance as our government seeks to open air travel bubbles with different countries; that all matters related to the safe opening of borders will be carefully considered in a timely manner. Pray for our Minister for Transport Mr. Ong Ye Kang and officials of SMRT as they continue to work on improving the efficiency of our rail network and eradicate disruptions to provide a safe and smooth ride for commuters.
